Section 3 – Citywide Levels of Organization

Inter-Level Organization Approach

The central focus of the Neighborhood Engagement Program is the Neighborhood level. There are approximately 57 variously defined across the City of Oakland – a pattern woven through a deep mosaic of diverse local blocks, community connections, and core institutions. With Oakland’s total population of 4xx,000 people, stretched across a 7-miles, the distance of connection for neighborhoods and block-levels to influence City services and address specific safety and quality life concerns is far too great and fragmented.

The Neighborhood Engagement Program directly responds to this inequitable distance by organizing and coordinating the program around a two-way engagement between the City level as a whole and three sub-scale levels of the district area (such as City Council Districts or Police Areas) level, the Neighborhood level, and the block-level.

2.4. District level organization

District boundaries.

2.4.1. The district area level shall initially describe the boundaries of the five Oakland Police Area Beats until city sub-district areas are formally designated or aligned by the City Administrator for the purposes of organizing neighborhood engagement and planning.

District Area engagement

2.4.2. On a quarterly basis neighborhood representation via the chairs of all of the Neighborhood Councils within a District Area shall meet with their City Councilmember and City Department heads (such as OakDOT, Public Works, Planning, Violence Prevention) or their representatives, to discuss how to solve or address neighborhood problems and issues affecting the safety and quality of life in the neighborhoods. Specific actions discussed and documented from the Neighborhood Council level shall be evaluated and elevated as part of concerted problem solving and coordinated response approach.

2.2.1. The neighborhoods of focus for the Neighborhood Engagement Program shall be organized according to existing police beats until such time as they are changed through the provisions of subsection 2.2.2 below

2.2 — Each defined neighborhood areas police beat should, to the extent feasible, contain between 5,000 and 7,000 residents and often best correspond to public elementary school areas.:

Boundary definition processes shall include input by residents, Neighborhood Councils, and City public safety and City planning agencies.
